ANNOUNCEMENT

Henri Dunant Birth Day Celebration

The celebration of the International Red Cross Day on May the 8th, to mark the 126th birth day anniversary of Henri Dunant. As usual therefore it has been decided again to observe this day with all possible earnestness and on a scale greater than last year. A circular in this connection will be issued shortly to the District Branches requesting them to secure the cooperation of the press and publish suitable articles on the Red Cross and Henri Dunant's life and work. The Members of the Junior Red Cross are also requested to participate in the functions organised by the District Branches. They may hold rallies, exhibitions, tournaments and stage health dramas and other functions depicting their various activities. Reports on the celebration received from the Groups in time will be published in the July issue of the Madras Junior.

Reminder to the Groups for the payment of registration fees

We find that many Junior Red Cross Groups who had registered in 1953 have not so far been re-registered for 1954. They are requested to send their registration fees before the publication of July issue. Failing which, we are afraid, the July issue will be stopped to them until they pay the registration fees.

We have pleasure in publishing for the information of the groups the New Year Messages for 1954 received from the Chairman of the Board of Governors, League of Red Cross Societies, Geneva, and President of the International Committee of the Red Cross - [Editor, The Madras Junior.]

New Year Message for 1954

Justice Emil Sandstrom, Chairman of the Board of Governors, League of Red Cross Societies.

Friends!

The year that has just passed away has been, in a quite special degree, a year of catastrophes caused by nature's unleashed forces. Floods, earthquakes, droughts have succeeded each other with great damage to men's life and limb, to his house and goods.

That is to say that it has been a year marked by unceasing work of the Red Cross, in the field of disaster relief, to alleviate suffering and misery. The Red Cross has as always been in the fore-front of the relief work and its achievements have been well up to its high traditions. It has in fact in this field surpassed itself.

At the same time its activity in other fields has continued without interruption, and developed. Noticeable in this respect is the contribution Red Cross teams from different Societies have had to perform in connection with the exchange of prisoners of war in Korea.

An outstanding feature of the year's relief work has been also the ever increasing contribution to it by the League of Red Cross Societies, which enters now into the 35th year of its existence. The League is, besides the assistance it gives to the Societies in all forms, becoming more and more an active working agent in the relief field, accomplishing the necessary co-ordination, a task which becomes the more important the bigger the catastrophe and the more extensive the relief work is. In the relief action of the bygone year the League's performances have been of the greatest value.

The Red Cross has in an indeed singular way shown its usefulness and necessity during the year. It is very gratifying to be able to make this statement in my NEW YEAR MESSAGE. I congratulate the Red Cross Societies and the League and all and everyone, Red Cross Member or supporter, who has contributed to the excellent result, which I hope, will induce to continued and increased efforts.

With this hope I wish you all, Red Cross members and friends, a happy and successful NEW YEAR.

Broadcast Message from Monsieur Paul Ruegger, President, International Committee of the Red Cross, for the New Year 1954.

Five years ago, sixty-one States signed in Geneva the four conventions for the protection of war victims. Following a generous impulse, the drafts proposed by the International Committee of the Red Cross were accepted by Governments representing every political opinion. There was hope therefore that all non-combatants would at last be assured of the protection which universal humanitarian sentiment demands.

The procedure of ratification of these Conventions is, however, too slow, especially in the case of the greatest powers. The founder organisation of the universal movement of the Red Cross considers that it must impress upon the powers the importance of ratifying these treaties, of endorsing the obligations which they incurred when endeavouring to give a wider scope to the Geneva Conventions. Thus they will give the world a further proof of their desire for peace, whilst at the same time assuring their citizens that as far as individual protection promised by treaty can be assured, in case of war, this will be done.

It must be hoped that, in the same spirit they will also make progress towards finding solution to the great problem of the protection of civilian populations against weapons of massive and indiscriminate destruction—a problem, towards the solution of which the International Committee in Geneva has never ceased to invite its undivided attention and the study of which it will continue to pursue in the hope of a better future.

India was one of the first few countries to ratify the 1949 Geneva Conventions. Its ratification is dated 9th November 1950.

Indian Red Cross Korean Unit and Non-repatriated Prisoners of War

Indian Red Cross Korean Unit, after having so well performed the difficult International Assignment given to it, arrived by S. S. Austrias at Madras on the 21st February 1954. Along with the Unit came some of the non-repatriated prisoners of war, who were brought to India at their request to go to neutral countries. A fitting welcome was given to the Unit on its arrival at the Madras Harbour. The Government of Madras arranged a reception to the Unit at the Harbour, when all Red Cross members and others participated in it. For the benefit of the non-repatriated Korean P. O. W.'s the Headquarters, New Delhi, sent 88 gift bags, each containing the following items, viz. barley sugar, tooth-powder, hair-oil, combs, playing cards, handkerchiefs, soap (toilet), writing pad and envelopes, chocolates, pencils, and soap (shaving). These were distributed to them. A photograph was taken after the distribution, which is published elsewhere in this issue.

Government of Madras acts on Parulekar Committee's Recommendations on Junior Red Cross Counsellor's Training for Elementary School Teachers

We understand that the Government of Madras is taking steps to implement the recommendations of the Parulekar Committee on Elementary Education to provide Junior Red Cross Training for children in elementary schools. The Madras State Red Cross Branch was recently invited to send a representative to serve on a committee for planning the details of a scheme for a State-wide training of elementary school teachers, as Junior Red Cross Counsellors. The recommendations of this committee are understood to be under the consideration of the Government.

Instructions and Syllabus for conducting Junior Red Cross Counsellors' Training Courses

Following the conduct of a Pilot Training Course for Junior Red Cross Counsellors by the Madras City Branch during August and September 1953, the revised syllabus has now been finalised and approved by the Junior Red Cross Sub-Committee of the Madras State Branch. Copies of the Instructions and Syllabus have been provided in booklet form and Secretaries of District Branches and Convenors of District Junior Red Cross Sub-Committees have been furnished with copies. Additional copies can be had on payment of THREE ANNAS each from the Honorary Secretary, Madras State Branch, Indian Red Cross Society, Monteith Road, Egmore, Madras-7.

The Instructions and Syllabus are intended for the use only of Secretaries of District Branches and Convenors of District Junior Red Cross Sub-Committees, and lecturers and instructors who participate in the conduct of training courses. Therefore they are not meant to be issued or sold to trainees. The booklet is to be used in conjunction with the literature listed on its pages 4 and 5, without which the information cannot be regarded as complete.

We are happy to inform Secretaries and Convenors that the booklet has met with the appreciation of the Headquarters, New Delhi, and that at their instance we have been sending copies to several States in India.

Special Exchange Plan

We publish for information of the Junior Red Cross Groups the following which has been sent to all the Red Cross District and Sub-branches and the District Junior Red Cross Sub-Committees.

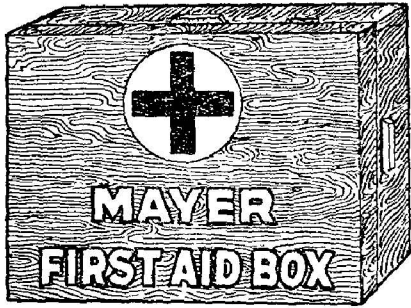

In order to stimulate international school correspondence the League of Red Cross Societies has evolved a "SPECIAL EXCHANGE PLAN" as follows:—

1. Six National Junior Red Cross Sections have been grouped together and as far as our Society is concerned they are Austria, Denmark, Germany, India, Italy and Japan,
2. Each National Section has to provide 15 albums for despatch as soon as possible, not later than May 1954;
3. Three of these albums will be sent to each of the other five participating sections;
4. The pairings will be made at the Central Headquarters of the Society concerned and will mark the beginning of an exchange of correspondence.

Composition of albums—The albums should be of normal size, roughly 12" x 14" and not more than 1½ lbs. in weight. The contents should be of a general nature and adequate space should be given to Junior Red Cross and Red Cross activities.

In commending the above plan to us for implementation, the Headquarters has requested us to co-operate with them by taking steps and send them the albums from our Juniors before the schools close for the summer vacations.

We therefore invite the cooperation and support of the Junior Red Cross Groups both in the Andhra and Madras States and request them to prepare and send the albums as specified above to Honorary Director, Junior Red Cross, Indian Red Cross Society, Madras State Branch, Monteith Road, Egmore, Madras-8 by the 15th of April 1954 at the latest for transmission to Headquarters, New Delhi.

Extension of time for sending entries for the Madras Junior Cover Design Competition.

As a sufficient number of entries has not so far been received for the above competition, it is proposed to extend the time from 15th February 1954 to May 30th 1954 to enable a larger number of Groups to participate in the competition. For particulars of this competition readers are referred to page 4 of The Madras Junior, January 1954.

Strength of Groups

The number of registered Groups in this State including Andhra in the year ending December 1953 is 2,602 as against 2,937 in 1952. The decrease is mainly due to the fall in the registration of groups in Madurai district. The number of Juniors is (approximately) boys: 57,359 and Girls: 35,318, making a total of 92,677. Owing to the formation of the Andhra State Red Cross Branch, the Groups in the State will be parting from us shortly. Then there will be a further decrease in the number of registered groups. We must therefore try to show an appreciable increase in the number of registrations in the current year. This may be achieved if every Group takes a keen interest in getting itself re-registered during the year in time and in getting a larger number of new Groups registered. We therefore appeal to every one for their co-operation and help in this respect.
